&&&&&&&&&&&&&&&

The exact days on which the loans were given and on which repayment in each year is due should be given.

2. In every case future instalment should be made to fall on 30th June. This can be done by adjusting the principal and interest account up to 30th June of this year and starting with a new principal amount from 1st July 1895. In cases of loans hereafter made the account should be similarly adjusted at the close of the year in which the loan is made. For purposes of interest calculations for adjustments under this para fractions of a month should be treated as entire months. No counter interest shall be claimable for instalments paid before the due dates.

3. The statement should be in fuller detail as shown in the appended form. The convenience of that form for purpose of annual recovery is evident. An extract from the register in such a form should be given to each debtor.

4. When an instalment is not paid on due date, it shall carry interest at 12 % per annum until duly paid. When an instalment has been in arrear for six months, the entire balance of debit including the instalment in arrear (with interest on the whole) shall be forthwith recoverable in one lump. Both an instalment in arrear and the balance of debit shall be recoverable as a revenue demand.

5. The future mortgages should be in form which provides ~~&%&&%%%&&~~ expressly for the above conditions.

6. The Comptroller is requested to prepare the revised statement in communication with the Deputy Commissioner of Mysore, who should also submit the form of the mortgage Deed he would submit.
